Gentlemen:-

I am just in receipt of a letter from you to day regarding My Quarterly Claim for Pension Payment, which claim you say was sent me several weeks ago. And you further state that warrant cannot issue until you have received the claim properly executed in your office, to which I am well aware, but,

Early in October last, I sent you an affidavit and a letter saying that I had moved and in the move from one place to the other, my pension papers got lost some how, and the purpose of the affidavit was to show you that I had lost the same as well as the Pension certificate and asking for a Duplicate of such certificate as well as new voucher for me to execute so that I could get my pension. From your letter to me just recd, it seems that you have either overlooked it, or else have never received the letter and affidavit. I wish that you would look into the matter and see what the trouble is. If no affidavit and explanatory letter has been received by your office, then advise me and I will have a new one made at once and send you as I do not want my pension to lapse, as I need it, though it be little.

An early reply advising me of the matter will be much appreciated by me and will be lastingly remembered.

Thanking you in advance for courtesies, I am,
Very truly yours,

(J.V. Jackson,)
