

Bob's Story: A happy ending?

After a year in a specialized rehabilitation nursing home, Bob has improved to such an extent that both he and his family believe that Bob now has the ability to live independently.

Question: What things that the attorney should consider?

Answer: We should consider whether Bob now has sufficient capacity so that we can terminate the guardianship. We should also explore MONEY FOLLOWS THE PERSON, a program that provides community-based support.