Investigate Before Investing

Invest Ed® Investment Minute Radio & Television Series

Narrated by actor Rex Linn, these 60 second nuggets of unbiased investment basics and securities fraud protection information are designed to increase investor well-being through knowledge and securities fraud awareness. Topics include top investment scams and how to avoid becoming a victim, senior protection tips, common investment products and their suitability for you, choosing a broker-dealer or investment advisor, information about the Oklahoma Securities Commission, including Invest Ed® and a 35 spot radio series written for those just beginning money management. The television and radio series air statewide on select commercial stations and are available to view or download on the Invest Ed® Web site. Visit investedok.org for details. The Investment Minutes are used as an educational resource in STARS classrooms statewide and complement the Invest Ed® My Money Handbook.

Invest Ed® Documentary Series

This powerful, award-winning series profiles real life fraud cases from the Oklahoma Securities Commission's closed case files; portraying in detail each true case through reenactments, victim interviews, discussions with state and federal officials, and in-depth narration by actor Rex Linn. Each documentary explores the con artists' mind-set and method in executing their scam. Visit investedok.org for details and to view clips. The Invest Ed® Documentary Series is a resource available for use in the classroom and for unbiased, non-commercial organizational presentations.

Anatomy of a Fraud: Catching a Con in Pottawatomie County

This award-winning documentary recounts the multi-million dollar fraud scheme carried out by William Hickman Sr. of Shawnee, Oklahoma. 28 minutes.

Invest Ed® STARS

(Students Tracking and Researching the Stock Market)

The STARS project is a free investment education program for Oklahoma high school students. Students research investments, assess risk, set goals, create and track online portfolios, and at the project's conclusion write a report. The required report differentiates this program from other online stock portfolio programs. STARS' goals include teaching students how to achieve financial freedom and raising securities fraud awareness. Additionally, the project sharpens critical thinking, research, computer and math skills, provides practice in setting goals, meeting deadlines, and writing reports. Prior to implementation, STARS teachers are trained either through the four-day STARS summer Teacher Institute or eight Saturday workshops offered in the fall and spring. The summer Refresher Workshop offers participating STARS teachers a two-day opportunity to increase their knowledge and share best practices. STARS aligns with the Oklahoma PASS Standards and is recognized by the Oklahoma State Department of Education as a resource for HB 1476. Visit investedok.org for details.
