OKLAHOMA

BIG SKIES.
WIDE OPEN COUNTRY.
FRIENDLY PEOPLE.

Step into a grand land, where endless sky and horizons open their arms to greet you with infinite possibility. Consider the 2008 Oklahoma Events Guide your personal invitation to visit our great state.

Whether its music festivals, rodeos, or pow wows, Oklahomans love to celebrate the things that make them unique. You'll find something going on almost every weekend of the year, no matter what part of the state you plan to visit.

So take a look through this guide and then mark your calendar for a fun-filled year. Two events you may want to start with are the Standing Bear Pow Wow (Sept. 26–27) in Ponca City and the Prix de West Invitational Art Exhibition (June 13–Sept. 7) at the National Cowboy and Western Heritage Museum in Oklahoma City. Both were recognized as outstanding events by the American Bus Association's 2008 Top 100 Events in North America list.

A complete online list of 2008 events can be found by visiting www.TravelOK.com or by calling an Oklahoma Travel Counselor at 1-800-652-6552.

Locations, dates, descriptions, contact information and websites are all subject to change after publication. Please call ahead to confirm the event date and information before getting on the road.

OKLAHOMA: AMERICA IN ITS NATIVE STATE

This guide is a comprehensive listing of Oklahoma's events organized chronologically by month and enhanced with sections dedicated to special exhibits and holiday events from all across Oklahoma.

From January through December, you'll quickly notice that these pages are chock-full of nationally-acclaimed events like rodeos, food and music festivals, American Indian Pow Wows, award-winning Oktoberfests, and even a festival celebrating Bigfoot. From art festivals and fall foliage viewing to fishing tournaments and classic car shows, there's something for everyone in Oklahoma.

So, no matter what time of year, what type of event or what region you plan on visiting, flip through this calendar of events and you're sure to find a memorable way to fill your time. We look forward to seeing you out and about in Oklahoma sometime soon.

INDEPENDENCE DAY CELEBRATION

A large, vibrant American flag is the central focus, held high by a crowd of people. The flag's red and white stripes and blue field with stars are clearly visible. The crowd, consisting of men, women, and children, is gathered on a paved area, possibly a street or park. Some people are standing, while others are sitting on the ground. In the background, there are buildings and trees, suggesting an urban setting. The overall atmosphere is festive and patriotic.

THE FIRST FIFTY YEARS

INSIDE OKLA

Oklahoma divides itself into six regional areas or "countries," each with its own unique appeal. However, there are at least two elements common to all six: friendly people and plenty to do. For more information about an individual country, please contact its regional association listed below.

CITY INDEX

Traveling to a particular city in Oklahoma and need to find out what events are taking place? We have listed all 2008 event dates by city for your convenience.

Please note that each city is color-coded to match the color of the tourism region in which the city is located. (See map on the previous page.)

For example, if you'd like to find out which region the city of Altus is located, look at the color of the city name and then refer to the map on the previous page to find out that Altus is in the Great Plains Country in the southwest corner of Oklahoma.
