

Figure 10. Map showing generalized geomorphic regions of Oklahoma and parts of surrounding states. Northeastern Oklahoma is part of the Ozark Plateau, southeastern Oklahoma is part of the Ouachita Mountains, the Panhandle is part of the High Plains, and the rest of the State is part of the Osage Plains of the Central Lowland. Modified from Raisz (1957).