

Figure 17. A small cuesta on the flanks of the main cuesta that has formed in sandstone IPsv11 of the Savanna Formation in the Robbers Cave area. The bedding plane dips toward the left, and on the right is the steep erosional scarp that cuts across the strata.

Figure 18. Lake Carlton and part of the bluff on the erosion side of the cuesta formed by the Bluejacket Sandstone, the basal member of the Boggy Formation.